

Joyce M. Miranda Morales

Writing Task 1

Taking Risks

Some risks that I sometimes take is to make dangerous adventures, for example throwing myself at high stones in rivers. I also take the risk of leaving late and being late for classes. I know that I must change those behaviors for my future professional life.

I am afraid of tragically dying, I would not do anything that could endanger my life, from the social aspect to the physical aspect. Making good decisions increases the chances of living fully, so I take care of myself as much as I can to be without fear.